

Cordillera Motorcycle Association Ski Day

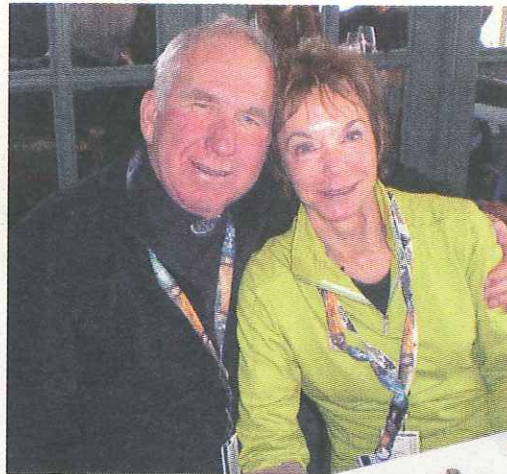

The Cordillera Motorcycle Association had one of its ski days recently at Beaver Creek. Despite bitter cold temperatures, the group held its own until lunch at Beano's.

"CMA events are often judged by the amount of wine consumed at lunch," said Laura Foster, director of operations for the group. "This being the case, the Beaver Creek CMA ski day attended by 21 members was a huge success."

The lunch hour lasted for several hours, and all served were very conscientious. Stacey Nibbelink, who is known for her fine taste in wine, has now put an end to her days of imbibing – at least for the next nine months.

Rumor has it the skiing was also a success. VT
